A dramatic sky scene with a bright light source, possibly a setting or rising sun, creating a large, glowing white and yellow cloud. A vibrant rainbow arches across the lower part of the sky. A dark, jagged silhouette, resembling a dragon or a monster, is visible in the upper right portion of the sky. The foreground shows a blurred cityscape with buildings and a street.

A person is shown falling from a height against a bright orange, hazy sky. The person is in a spread-eagle position, with their arms and legs outstretched. A few small, dark objects are visible in the air around the person, possibly representing debris or other falling objects. The overall scene conveys a sense of falling and vulnerability.
